OMNILEDGER WINS NACRO IT CONTRACT FOR HOUSING MANAGEMENT, REPAIRS AND MAINTENANCE SYSTEM

OmniLedger has won a contract to deliver the housing management, repairs and maintenance IT system for Nacro's housing department.

Over the next nine months Pyramid - OmniLedger's housing IT system - will be rolled out across the Nacro housing network, which encompasses 65 offices and 370 users.

The news comes on the back of OmniLedger's most successful year yet.

Roy Blyth, Managing Director for OmniLedger, said: "With an expanding user base approaching 100 RSL's this, combined with the Nacro contract, puts OmniLedger and Pyramid firmly at the forefront of housing system suppliers."

Helen O'Connor, Assistant Director of Performance and Planning for Nacro, said: "We chose the Pyramid system because the data input and enquiry screens were so clear and easy to follow. Throughout the presentations our staff were able to see the benefit of Pyramid and how it would meet their individual day-to-day needs. It's really user-friendly, which is a definite plus point."

Sue Moore, Head of Performance Review for Nacro, said: "Pyramid is designed to operate in a real-time environment and will provide our users with up-to-the-minute information at all times. Furthermore, the sophisticated data extraction and reporting tools will provide our management with instant access to critical data and essential performance indicator statistics."
