OmniLedger has announced the award of a new contract to supply its fully integrated Pyramid application suite, which includes housing management, maintenance and finance modules, to Rosemary Simmons Memorial Housing Association.

Rosemary Simmons is an established housing association, offering a range of homes for families, single people and older people in the South East. The Association is investing substantially in new homes and service enhancements and wants to ensure that its IT systems can support this.

Michael Chinn, Finance Director of RSMHA, said: "We chose OmniLedger because in addition to providing a stable platform to handle compliance issues, Pyramid offers a management tool which will enhance our decision making capabilities."

Lee Wagnall, Sales Manager at OmniLedger, added "The flexibility of the Pyramid system allows the user to get the IT system to work for them, rather than adapting their established procedures to accommodate a new system. A key requirement for RSMHA was the ability to quickly and accurately see the position of the tenant arrears, in respect of the Personal and HB elements and Pyramid provides this both on screen and via extensive reporting tools. The additional benefit to RSMHA was that Pyramid is a real-time, fully integrated system, so data is up-to-date every second of every working day.
